

Wounded Economy Threatens Dogs

Behavioral solutions for your best friend that saves you gas and money! Get help before you get frustrated!

Date Released: 10/07/2008

Another day watching the Wall Street drama unfold, Washington politicians continue their posturing and grumbling behavior, similar to that of a dog park. I am once again reminded of the honest and genuine nature our wonderful canine companions demonstrate and the valuable role they play in American lives. With an estimated 74 million dogs in the United States, it is clear that canine companions are a true American favorite. As we watch the news and consider our own financial dilemmas and economic hard times, many of us are becoming concerned about the possibility of not being able to provide for our companions. One of the areas that gets hit first is that of behavior and training. This concerns Certified Dog Behavior Consultant (CDBC) Jennifer Shryock of Family Paws in Cary, NC.

“Families may put off getting help in the hopes that the behavior will change or improve on its own rather than hiring a professional to provide guidance.” says Ms. Shryock. Ms. Shryock also worries this will lead to an increase in the number of dogs turned into already overflowing shelters and rescue organizations.

In an effort to provide families with support and options while saving gas and money, Jennifer Shryock is offering inexpensive and informative online / phone teleconferences. <http://www.dogbehaviorhelp.familypaws.com> Here families can get their questions answered, receive support and be referred to someone in their local area all without leaving their home or spending lots of money.

“Sometimes people just need one or two quick tips for a challenging behavior and it makes a huge difference in their lives” says Ms. Shryock.

Having a place to refer to and count on without leaving the home and having to spend hundreds of dollars is something all dog families can appreciate during these tough times. After all, isn't it tough times like these that we depend on our furry companions the most? They deserve the best support we can offer them in return!

Contact information Jennifer Shryock B.A. CDBC 919.961.1608 <http://www.dogbehaviorhelp.familypaws.com/>

About Family PawsDogs & Storks

We offer affordable, practical and positive solutions for busy families dog related issues. Dogs are a wonderful part of our family and often simple solutions can help relieve stressful or bothersome behaviors. Our goal is to customize a plan that meets your individual goals and fits into your lifestyle.

Contact Information

Jennifer Shryock
Family PawsDogs & Storks
<http://www.familypaws.com>
919.961.1608

Press Release service brought to you by Fast Pitch